To Whom It May Concern:

I have known and worked with Robert Dennis for the past 7 years in his capacity as an application developer for Roush. Robert is very adept at taking an innovative approach to solving business problems with technology. He works very well with users to understand the problem being solved and the requirements of the application. He develops applications from a user perspective and works hard to ensure they are easy to use by the end users. He has provided tireless support to the users, always making himself available to provide support after hours and on weekends when required.

Robert has developed several information management applications for Roush utilizing MS Access, XML, HTML, Visual Basic, ASP, C++ and other technologies. If there is an aspect of a development tool required for a project which he is unfamiliar with, he takes the initiative to research and learn it on his own. He is also very good at researching new technologies and identifying areas to enhance current applications. He works well in a team development atmosphere, challenging the other developers to explore options throughout the process. He has proven to be a dedicated team member, willing to do whatever it takes to get the job done and will be a positive addition to any organization.

Sincerely,

ROUSH TECHNICAL SERVICES
